

Are there any scammers installing photovoltaic panels

Overview

Con artists use misleading sales tactics and lies to trick homeowners out of money and personal information. If you've received an offer for "free solar panels," it could be a scam. Always look for businesses you can trust - like Accredited Businesses using the BBB Seal. Did a salesperson knock on your door and promise free rooftop solar panels at no cost to you?

Or say you'll never have to pay another electricity bill because government programs, grants, or rebates cover your solar installation?

It's likely a scam. Here are red flags to look out for when. Solar panel fraud has become a growing concern in the United States, leaving many homeowners stuck with hidden fees, inflated energy bills, and contracts they never fully understood. As more families consider solar energy improvements, dishonest companies exploit the fine print in solar panel. As solar grows in popularity, more scammers are targeting consumers. Scammers may misrepresent services, make false.
