

Cancel photovoltaic panels

Overview

Yes, you can cancel a solar panel contract after installation, though it typically involves early termination fees, buyout costs, or legal action depending on your contract terms and state laws. This guide explains your rights and potential ways to resolve your contract. Cancellation is most viable when contracts contain legal flaws such as missing signatures, blank. Solar Cancellation Resource Center is proud to partner with Consumer Advocacy Law Group, one of the nation's foremost consumer-protection law firms. We estimate that millions of Americans have purchased or leased solar panels under false or misrepresented terms. PPAs and solar leases allow you to pay for solar power at a much lower rate than your utility provider, and most offer no upfront costs to install the system.
