

Photovoltaic panel crushing equipment manufacturers

Overview

Solar panel crushing recycling plant integrates multiple processes to convert waste PV modules into reusable raw materials. Standard configurations include frame removal equipment, wiring disassembly, primary crushing machines, fine shredders, specific gravity separators, and filtering. Unlike primary shredding systems, hammer mills serve as the second-stage crusher, delivering finer and more consistent particle sizes essential for downstream separation processes. This fully automated system is engineered to maximize material recovery from solar panels, transforming waste into valuable resources. Utilizing advanced physical and mechanical separation technology, it efficiently extracts aluminum frames, glass, silicon, copper, plastic, and other materials. Each of our models can produce the exact finished size you require.
